

SILVER PARTY TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS:

HON. THOMAS WREN,
Of Eureka.HON. M. S. BONNIFIELD,
Of Humboldt.HON. C. C. POWNING,
Of Washoe.

ALTERNATE ELECTORS:

HON. GEO. S. NIXON.....Of Humboldt
HON. GEO. BROWN.....Of Storey
HON. W. J. WESTERFIELD...Of Lyon

REPUBLICAN SENTIMENT EAST.

The New York Press, which claims to have the largest circulation of any Republican paper in the United States, in its issue of Thursday, July 21st, the morning after the Silver bill was shelved in the House, said:

"If the Republicans had not voted in the House yesterday the Stewart bill, with all its menace to business interests, would have passed. But for Republican votes in the House on March 24th the Bland bill would have passed. The Democrats voted by an emphatic majority for both these crazy and destructive measures. The Mugwump organs have lately been full of exultant hints as to the potent effect of Mr. Cleveland's influence in persuading free silver Democrats to play the hypocrite in the hope of winning the approaching election. Mr. Cleveland's power over the party that has just nominated him for the third time to the Presidency undoubtedly cut down the free silver vote materially yesterday; but it could not prevent the Democracy from again putting itself fatally on record for the degradation of the currency which Republican financial statesmanship has made absolutely sound."

The New York World and other Cleveland organs in the East dispute the claim of the Harrison papers that the Republicans killed the Stewart bill and "point with pride" to the fact that while only eight Republicans voted for the bill, ninety-four Democrats voted against it.

The friends of silver have nothing to hope from the success of Harrison or Cleveland. They are both obligated by platform against its remonetization, and no beneficial result need be expected from the International Monetary Conference. Europe does not produce enough silver to plate the buttons of the court jockeys, and its money kings spent a half-million dollars to get the Congress of the United States to demonetize it, and therefore will oppose its remonetization. The Eastern press is subsidized to oppose it and to-day the metropolitan papers, whether they support Cleveland or Harrison are fighting free coinage.

In the West there should be but one sentiment on the subject as the material prosperity of the country to a very great extent, depends upon it, and with the exception of office-holders and office-seekers, and a few who are so thickly enveloped in partisan prejudice that their vision is clouded, the people of the silver States are for the free coinage candidate for President.

THE CHOLERA.

The cholera, which generates in the swamps of the Ganges, has left its home and is now spreading with fearful rapidity through Asia and Europe. Already its ravages in parts of Russia are frightful and its victims are numbered by thousands. The plague generally follows lines of travel, and in view of the spread of the epidemic in Europe, Surgeon General Wyman has urged the Secretary of the Treasury to order the detention of immigrants' baggage at Ellis Island, New York harbor, until thoroughly disinfected.

In 1847 the first case of cholera in the United States was traced to an immigrant, who brought it in his clothing from Calcutta. It spread throughout the country reaching the sparsely settled States west of the Mississippi, as well as the more populous sections of the East. The records show that it claimed 30,000 victims in the United States. It was almost epidemic along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and a few years later it followed the California emigration up the Platte river, and marked almost every mile of the road with the grave of a victim.

General Weaver, the People's candidate for President of the United States, will speak in Reno on Wednesday, August 3d and in Virginia City, Thursday, August 4th. He was a gallant soldier and served with distinction in the army, which he entered as a private and left as a General, and is in every respect a man of the people, with no leaning toward money-bags or monopolists. He believes in equal rights for all and special privilege for none.

The JOURNAL is authorized to State for the information of the Harrison-Cleveland goldbug combination that the Silver Party electors are not in favor of either Wall Street nominees for President. They stand on a Free Coinage platform and with the people at their back cannot be prevented by goldbug Republicans and Democrats from voting for a Free Coinage candidate for President.

BY TELEGRAPH!

News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

The Pinkertons interviewed by the Homestead Investigating Committee.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Robert Pinkerton made a lengthy statement to-day to a special committee investigating the Homestead troubles. Besides reviewing the history of his organization he was required to answer a long list of questions which were prepared by representatives of the Knights of Labor. His reply in substance were that the barges on which his men went to Homestead were not constructed for the purpose of protection, were not lined with iron or steel and could not resist small arms. The men would never have been allowed to start on the expedition if it had been known they were to be attacked before landing. The barges were employed because it was believed the men would be able to land without a breach of peace, and the landing was made at night for the reason that the sheriff's force had been resisted in the day time. The sole desire was to avoid a breach of peace, otherwise the men would not have been permitted to go unless authorized by the Governor or deputized by the sheriff. The men would not have fired except as a matter of self-defense. It was understood the Carnegie Company had applied to the proper legal authorities and that the men were going to Homestead with the approval of the sheriff.

Chairman Oates asked the witness what he had to say of the statement that fifty good soldiers could have scattered the Homestead mob, and that cowardice was shown by the Pinkertons.

The witness replied that he had talked with his men and they said they could have taken possession of the works, almost any time before 10 o'clock, but would have had to kill men, women and children and would not do anything of that kind.

Bonner having asked how it was the trouble had occurred when the strikers claimed they did not encourage violence and the Pinkertons were instructed not to use violence.

Pinkerton made the reply that he hit squarely at the Knights of Labor representatives present. He said he had never seen a strike when labor organizations or their men had not abused non-union men. He had seen men knocked off trains; he had seen them beaten to jelly; he had known members of this very Knights of Labor, whose representatives were here, to put obstructions on tracks and dynamite under cars. He had seen men who wanted to work treated worse than savages could have treated them by representatives of secret labor organizations. Wm. A. Pinkerton corroborated all his brother had said.

Perished in the Mountains.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 22.—Word has been received here from Campo that the bodies of S. J. Breedlove and Pennsylvania capitalist named Fish, who left Campo on July 4th to prospect for gold in the desert, have been found in a canyon of Coochay mountains. No trace was found of Breedlove's son, who was also one of the party.

The bodies were found close together and from their appearance it was judged that the men had been dead at least two weeks. Under the scorching sun of the desert the bodies had decomposed rapidly and the searching party found it was impossible to bring them in. Two of the mules were discovered a short distance further on, but no traces of C. W. Breedlove and a third mule could be found. The bodies of Fish and Breedlove, Sr., were found some forty miles east from Campo, and A. W. Jewell, who was leader of the searching party, telephoned that the only way the bodies can be brought in is to make up a party of five or six strong men who are used to hardships and provide them with good wagons. Such a party will probably start from here soon.

State Troops Ordered Home.

WALLACE, Idaho, July 22.—Gov. Willey has received so many appeals from members of the Idaho National Guard, now in the field, for furloughs and requests from members of the Legislature for the return of local companies, based on business interests, that orders have been issued for the return home of the State troops. In relieving the battalion from duty at Warder General Carlin says in his order: "The Colonel commanding the troops in the Coeur d'Alene country takes occasion to thank the Idaho troops for their good conduct at all times while under his command.

General Carlin and staff left Warder this afternoon en route to Wallace to confer with General Curtis on a number of matters pertaining to prisoners under arrest.

The retention here of U. S. troops is believed to be a foregone conclusion and already Warder and Wallace are fighting for the location of the post. The departure of the State troops will necessitate a guard being furnished from the U. S. troops to convey the prisoners to Boise.

A Deadly Eruption.

THE HAGUE, July 22.—Official telegrams received here to-day from Batavia confirm the recent accounts of the awful destruction caused on Great Sangu Island, belonging to Holland, by a volcanic eruption on June 17th. Advices are to the effect that the whole northwestern portion of the island is destroyed and two thousand inhabitants killed. No Europeans were among the victims.

Large Crops Assured.

ST. PAUL, July 22.—The hot wave covers nearly the entire northwest, the temp.

ature ranging at different points from 90 to 101. The hot weather is helping grain greatly, and another immense crop is assured.

Fire and Robbery.
YREKA, Cal., July 22.—A fire which originated in Wadsworth's butcher shop to-day destroyed the shop, Cleland'sware house and contents, a part of Payne's store and the postoffice, together with Pashburg's warehouse, bed spring factory and a number of other buildings. Losses, $30,000; partially insured. During the excitement a case containing jewels, valued at $1,000, was stolen from J. H. Wadsworth.

Prisoners Released.

WALLACE, Idaho, July 23.—About thirty prisoners were discharged to-day from the military prison on parole. The most prominent among them were William Dilon, Robert Mill and J. E. Parker.

FOSTER'S WEATHER FORECASTS.

Rainfall in August.

Copyrighted 1892 by W. T. Foster.

SA, JOSEPH, Mo., July 23.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave due to cross the continent from the 23d to the 27th, and the next will reach the Pacific Coast about the 28th, cross the Western mountains by the close of the 29th, the Great Central valleys from the 30th to August 1st, and the Eastern States about August 21.

This storm will be at its greatest energy about July 28th and 29th, while on the Pacific Coast, and it will cause heavy concentrated rains in small localities as it passes across the continent.

The cool wave following this storm will cross the Western mountains about July 31st, the Great Central valleys about August 2d and the Eastern States about August 4th.

As a rule the rainfall for August will be the average least near the sea coasts where the country is near sea level, especially of more than 2,000 feet elevation, the rains will be equal to the general average for the time of year.

The first storm wave of August will reach the Pacific Coast about the 2d, cross the Western mountains by the close of the 4th, the Great Central valleys from the 5th to 7th and the Eastern States about the 8th.

The cool wave following this storm will cross the Western mountains about the 8th and the Eastern States about the 10th.

No Hard Feelings.

A man about forty-five years old, having three new scythe stones tied up with a string under his arm, got aboard the train at Smith's Centre, and as he passed down the car to find a seat, a passenger who was considerably younger, and who also appeared to be a farmer, called out:

"Well, I declare, but who expected to see you here! How are ye, Jim Tompson?"

"Oh, tolerable well, considerin'," was the reply of the newcomer. "How's all your folks?"

"Able to be around, thank ye. Getin' ready to sharpen up, I see?"

"Ya-as."

"Look here, Jim, I want to talk to ye a bit. Folks is tellin' round that you'n is mad at each other an ready to fight."

"Ya-as, I've heard it."

"But it ain't so. I ain't mad, and I don't know what you've got to git mad over."

"Oh, I never thought of gittin' mad."

"It's just the gossips, who want sumthin' to blow about. I married Mary Jane Hopkins. We didn't bitch very well, and I got a divorce. Then she married me, and that set folks to thinkin' we orte be mad at each other. Lands alive but it would take more'n that to make me mad!"

"And here too."

"How's Mary Jane now?"

"Fine care, just fine."

"...it mad and go into hystericks."

"How's it?"

"How's her breath?"

"Improv' right along all the time."

"Glad to hear it! Willin' to git up in the mornin'?"

"Perfectly willing."

"Kick any 'bout milkin' the cows and feedin' the hogs?"

"Not a kick."

"Well, I'm glad on it. We couldn't hitch, but I ain't got a word to say agin' Mary. Somebody had to marry her and it might as well be you as any one else. Don't you mind what folks to say I ain't mad nor goin' to git mad just cause you married my old wife. I'm after another, and as soon as I git her you'n Mary come over and stay all day and we'll make it pleasant for ye."

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me

Distress. Some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently but surely and efficiently, it tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and thus Sick. Sick removes the sympathetic, banishes the effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind.

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me

Heart. Little good. In an hour burn after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a Sour Stomach. Sour Spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced."

GEORGE A. PAGE, Waterpown, Mass.

Faints. Faints are to self-destructive persons as death is to the living.

Iron Deposits in Finland. An important discovery of very extensive iron ore deposits, which are even supposed to rival the enormous iron ore mountain at Gellivara, in north Sweden, has quite recently been made in Finland by M. Stjernvall, the geologist.

Henry B. Rule. Henry B. Rule, the real estate agent.

RENO, NEVADA.

Strayed or Stolen.

Strayed or stolen from my ranch a two-year-old gray half-bred Clydesdale stallion. No brand.

Any information concerning same will be thankfully received.

JAMES SULLIVAN.

1917.

Bray Notice.

Broke into my enclosure Thursday, July 7th, an iron gray colt, about three years old; branded double circle on left shoulder and upper cut on left ear. The owner will please call, prove property and pay charges.

M. HAWKSBRO.

1917.

Carrier Pigeons for the Navy. When the United States practice ship Constellation sailed on the cadets' summer voyage Monday afternoon it had aboard a number of homing pigeons, to be used as means of communication between the ship and points ashore. The birds will be liberated at intervals, and are expected to bring official messages from the practice vessel to the naval academy, where a lot or two has recently been established.

If the experiment should prove successful the government will probably find it profitable to the navy to encourage the homing pigeon service with the small appropriation needed to carry out the plans of the projectors of the enterprise. At present the facilities for training birds at the naval academy are limited, no government appropriation being available. At Fortress Monroe, the first stopping place of the ship, it is possible several trained birds from Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York will be taken aboard and later dispatched with information from the cruising grounds. The headquarters at Washington will also be posted of the whereabouts of the vessel through winged messengers from that city. A loft of birds to accompany the ship will no doubt be sufficiently trained toward the close of the voyage to be useful in conveying messages ashore. —Annapolis Cor. Baltimore Sun.

Old Bill. "That's all.

A familiar figure to all who have business about Park row is "Old Bill," the spectre of the popular tailor. Day after day for the past twenty years or more this unique figure has arrived in front of No. 81 at an early hour in the morning and unfolded a little campstool sort of contrivance, on which he places a small tray containing a few of the cheaper variety of eyeglasses. After this he lights his pipe and awaits the occasional customer.

In winter Bill's tall, spare figure is hidden in a heavy overcoat buttoned to the chin, his thin face peeping out from a large cap with large sides that fold down over his ears. When the first days of summer approach the heavy trappings are cast aside and the purveyor of "eye windows" appears resplendent in straw hat, light trousers and clean linen shirt.

All inquiries as to this old figure fail to elicit anything satisfactory, and his cognomen of "Old Bill" is all that can be gathered. Of course he is reported to be wealthy—all such unique characters always are.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Death Superstitions.

Death superstitions are rife in the West Indies. To the people there everything out of the ordinary is a "sign." In Cuba a person with a sore or wound of any kind will not look upon a dead person, fearing that the spot will become incurable. The rum used in washing a dead body is, however, regarded as a sure cure for all eye troubles. If the light from a candle or lamp falls on the face of the dead, death will shortly come to him or her who was carrying the light. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The swell girl buys a new belt as often as she buys new gloves. Just now there is a fancy for very narrow belts to be worn with silk waists and cloth dresses.

The queen of Denmark is an enthusiastic musician, and passes her leisure hours playing piano duets with her daughters.

PRICE OF DAILY JOURNAL.

FIFTEEN CENTS PER WEEK

Delivered by Carrier.

SATURDAY.....JULY 23, 1892

BREVITIES.

Use Winterilla for Eczema.

For Neuralgia use Lighting Fluid.

Ex-Senator W. J. Westerfield is in Reno visiting his family.

Senator T. B. Ricketts came down from Carson last evening.

For painless Dental operations go to Porter Bros., Commercial Row.

The Lincoln county jail is untenanted. This indicates dull times at Pioche.

Col. Bob Patterson of Virginia City arrived in the V. & T. last evening.

Go to the Palace Bakery for fresh whole-some bread, cakes, pies and candies.

Plumbing, tiling and pipe work done at the lowest possible prices by Lango & Schmitt.

Dr. J. A. Lewis departed for San Francisco last evening to remain for an indefinite time.

Bargains in cook stoves, heating stoves, ranges and house furnishing goods at Lango & Schmitts.

Emerald Bay, Lake Tahoe. Fine fishing and hunting; free boating and bathing; first class table. Address, J. M. Smith, 2m.

A Chielovich, the San Francisco wholesale wine merchant, who has been in Reno for several days, departed last evening for the Bay.

There are 260 cases of typhoid fever in the Cook county hospital, Chicago, nearly all of whom have been admitted within the last ten days.

The Independent says the people of Elko county are nearly unanimous for Weaver and Field. Not so the most backs of both parties shout for Harrison and Cleveland.

Henry B. Rule, real estate agent, offers a fine ranch and stock ranges in Long Valley and in Grizzly Valley and a lot of cattle and horses for sale at a bargain. See advertisement.

Do not fail to hear the lectures to be given by Grand Foreman James Booth of Los Angeles at the Opera House, Monday, July 25th. Subject: "The A. O. U. W. and Its Benefits." Admission free. All are invited.

Yo Tambien, one of the horses raised by Theodore Winton, lowered the mile and one sixteenth record, making the distance in 1:45 1/2, half a second faster than the best previous record, at Washington Park, Chicago, this week.

Mrs. M. L. Yenger of Los Angeles, Cal., arrived last evening, accompanied by her children, on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Wm. Webster. She is the wife of M. L. Yenger, who was Deputy State Treasurer under Jerry Schooling for several years.

Frank Dickinson of Winnemucca Valley was in town yesterday hunting for Weaver. He says he regretted to have to leave the Democratic party, and when as of old, it upholds the interests of the people he will again be a Democrat.

The death of Mrs. Governor Stevenson leaves a vacancy to be filled as one of the Lady Commissioners of the World's Fair. The Journal would suggest Mrs. Hobart M. Clarke for the appointment. She is a lady who by reason of her great directorship and management, as evidenced at our State Fair, especially fit her for the position.

The Silver State says a Winnemucca gentleman offers to bet $500 even up that Harrison will not be next President. A Reno man has bet that Cleveland will not be elected. This indicates that betting men look on Weaver as the coming man. He is the only free coinage candidate in the field for President, and every sincere friend of silver will vote for him.

The K. of P. delegation which left here Wednesday to visit the Dayton Lodge, the occasion being the first official visit of Grand Chancellor T. R. Hofer, have returned. They speak in the highest terms of their treatment while there. Among those who went from here were Professor J. E. Bray, Sol Sevy, E. M. Coffin, J. F. Aitken and several others. There was also delegations from Carson and Virginia.

A man giving the name of Wm. Hughes was badly cut about the head night before last by the eastbound passenger train. He is supposed to have been stealing a ride on the train and in attempting to get off while the train was in motion received the injuries. He was taken over to the court house by Officer Green, and Dr. Lewis was sent for. The doctor stitched up the cuts and gave him all the attention necessary and then had him rumored to the County Hospital. At last accounts he was doing nicely.

A Wing Shot.

At a late hour Thursday night officers Nash and Sample came upon three men who had a keg of beer in their possession which is supposed to have been stolen. Upon being discovered they separated and started to run, two of them taking one direction and the third an opposite course. Officer Nash followed the two and succeeded in stopping them without trouble.

Mr. Sample followed the other man and ordered him to surrender, but instead of doing so he showed eight and as he is a large and powerful man, Mr. Sample found it necessary to protect himself with his pistol. He shot the man in the arm and then took him to jail. Dr. Lewis yesterday removed the bullet from the man's arm and says he will get along all right as the wound is not serious. The wounded man gave the name of J. Gallagher.

NATIONAL MINING CONGRESS.

Resolutions Adopted and Final Proceedings.

Continued From Yesterday.

constituents demands that there should be a plan and unequivocal declaration of the President with reference to his views upon this matter."

IS THAT DISRESPECT?

Is that disrespectful? Do we not lay down every platform and declaration the principles which the candidate for President must subscribe? Does he not in his letter of acceptance say before the people his principles upon which he proposes to conduct his campaign? Is it not the right of every free American citizen, of every great body of citizens, to ask his views with reference to every public question? And if we are told by these gentlemen from the East, in order to get our votes, that he will certainly sign a free coinage bill; if we are told, as the gentleman from Montana told you to-day, that neither Grover Cleveland nor Benjamin Harrison would dare to veto a free coinage bill, passed by the people, then ask whether we are not entitled to a declaration before this sacred trust, responsible in the electors of Nevada is discharged? [Applause.]

My friends, I have outlined the action of Nevada, or what I hope may be the action of Nevada. The action of the great national parties in each one of these States correspond; and what will be the result? You will have in the electoral college an independent body commanding from thirty to nineteen votes at least, and perhaps more. Look over the history of our country, and observe how frequently the Presidential contest has been determined by a less vote, and if we do, you will recognize the potency of having that independent power.

THE BALANCE OF POWER

Is as strong a position as that of the majority; and my judgment is that if that majority is not, then it is maintained that we must hold the balance of power in the electoral college, and without that no President can be selected, and the election will be thrown into the House, we will then receive unequivocal declarations from the gentlemen who claim our suffrages. [Applause.] They can do it with dignity, they can do it with honor, they can do it with self respect.

I do not propose to approach any possible candidate for the Presidency of the United States in anything but a respectful attitude. I do not propose to deal in words of threat or rebuke, or of demand. I simply propose that we shall ask in a respectful way, of the man to whom we propose to give our suffrage, that he should declare himself upon the question which is of such vital interest to every man within the borders of our realm.

Now, I hope, and I almost believe, that all these differences will be adjusted by Newland's. I for one have greater confidence than many in the result of this international conference. If the matter is adjusted there, what have you then? You have the old parties, with their nominations of electors made, prepared to fight out the battle upon the old lines of the tariff; but if it is not settled and adjusted, then you have the opportunity of securing an assurance that the executive power will not be used to defeat the popular will.

Mr. Brown (Montana): Permit me to ask you a question. Suppose the national product is put upon a ratio, how do we reach the binding effect of it—how does it bind us, and how is it to be applied to us?

Mr. Newlands: The international conference, of course, is merely advisory to the governments of the members composing it.

To the President of the Senate of the United States: The second National Mining Congress of the United States in session at Helena, Montana, representing nineteen States and several Territories, hereby respectfully petition your honorable body to defeat the bill known as H. B. 561, now before your honorable body, being an amendment entitled: "An Act to reduce the revenues and equalize duties on imports, and for other purposes, and denominated the free lead ore bill." We urge upon your honorable body the necessity of the defeat of the measure, as we feel that its passage would inevitably result in the same effect as the bill of 1878, which put a tariff on silver.

Now, I hope, and I almost believe, that all these differences will be adjusted by Newland's. I for one have greater confidence than many in the result of this international conference. If the matter is adjusted there, what have you then? You have the old parties, with their nominations of electors made, prepared to fight out the battle upon the old lines of the tariff; but if it is not settled and adjusted, then you have the opportunity of securing an assurance that the executive power will not be used to defeat the popular will.

Mr. Brown (Montana): Permit me to ask you a question. Suppose the national product is put upon a ratio, how do we reach the binding effect of it—how does it bind us, and how is it to be applied to us?

Mr. Newlands: The international conference, of course, is merely advisory to the governments of the members composing it.

To the President of the Senate of the United States: The second National Mining Congress of the United States in session at Helena, Montana, representing nineteen States and several Territories, hereby respectfully petition your honorable body to defeat the bill known as H. B. 561, now before your honorable body, being an amendment entitled: "An Act to reduce the revenues and equalize duties on imports, and for other purposes, and denominated the free lead ore bill." We urge upon your honorable body the necessity of the defeat of the measure, as we feel that its passage would inevitably result in the same effect as the bill of 1878, which put a tariff on silver.

Now, I hope, and I almost believe, that all these differences will be adjusted by Newland's. I for one have greater confidence than many in the result of this international conference. If the matter is adjusted there, what have you then? You have the old parties, with their nominations of electors made, prepared to fight out the battle upon the old lines of the tariff; but if it is not settled and adjusted, then you have the opportunity of securing an assurance that the executive power will not be used to defeat the popular will.

QUESTIONS OF RATIO.

When you realize the fact that there is a change of the ratio to the present market ratio, instead of the legal ratio, that there will be a contraction of the currency in France to the extent of two hundred millions of dollars, and in this country to the extent of two hundred millions of dollars and other countries in like proportions, you will realize that there is a very decided change in the change of the ratio. I believe that if there is a contraction of silver there will be a full and complete restoration of the ratio of 15 1/2 to one, the one that now obtains in France—a more favorable ratio than that which we have here.

Mr. Irvine II (Mont.) Will you allow me to make a friendly suggestion, Mr. Newlands?

Mr. Newlands: Certainly.

Mr. Irvine: I desire to ask, if in the event of this Congress adopting the platform or resolution which you have proposed, and the conference comes to an agreement, and that agreement is submitted for the ratification of the respective governments, and the ratification by the government cannot take place until after our conventions, and recognizing that the proposition that you make is at least novel and interesting, in the political management, are we expected to ask of the respective Presidents, pending the operation of this, the categorical question you submit?

Mr. Newlands: My judgment certainly would be yes. [Applause.] That until the result of the deliberations of the international conference is crystallized in a law, as it may be in many of these countries in the next three or four months, that

WE KEEP UP THE MOMENTUM.

Of this movement. We cannot let the movement rest, for with rest comes inertia and death. [Applause.]

Mr. Friend: We have already told you that I am a Republican.

Mr. Word (Montana): One moment, Mr. Newlands. Excuse me for interrupting you. I would like to follow up the line of your suggestion.

Mr. Newlands: Yes, sir.

Mr. Word: In reference to the selection of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by both political parties. Now, in Montana we will select electors who will favor free coinage of silver. We will say that the Republican party elect their electors in the State upon the Republican ticket, headed by Benjamin Harrison. They go to Washington and they propose their candidates for the election of electors by

